National Guideline Clearinghouse
www.guideline.gov/

This website is maintained by the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services, and is an excellent place to look for evidence-based guidelines. You can search the site using simple keywords, or add more sophisticated filters and limits to narrow your results. You can also browse the guidelines under broad headings such as organisms, diseases, chemicals and drugs. Guidelines are not only from America, but elsewhere in the world, including New Zealand and Australia.

International Space Station

The International Space Station has been orbiting earth for nearly 17 years. This excellent NASA website contains a lot of interesting information, including photos of and from the Station. There’s also a link to ‘Spot the Station’, where you can enter your location, and find out at what times (in New Zealand time) you can see the Station in the night sky.
