Healthfinder
The Healthfinder website is aimed at patients and their families, and is produced by the U. S. Department of Health and Human Services. There’s a comprehensive A-Z listing of health topics, including areas such as lactation, influenza, hypertension, and eye health. The site is also searchable.

Digital Public Library of America
This website is a gem if you are interested in history, and interesting if it’s American history that takes your fancy. The includes millions of photographs, books, sounds and other libraries, archives, and museums right around the United States. There are plenty of dropdown menus to help you browse the library, and there is also a search box available.
