DETAILS OF OFF-CAMPUS REQUEST (multiple requests are acceptable):

International students, New Zealand permanent residents and Australians should be aware that in order to qualify for domestic fees and scholarships, they must be primarily resident in New Zealand, except for temporary absences for the purposes of research. Permanent relocation to an overseas address, or for Doctoral students research-related travel exceeding twelve months total (across the course of the doctorate) will forfeit the right to domestic scholarships, and require the payment of international fees.

Yes/No

* Temporary travel overseas for personal reasons (exceeding two months) requires a deferral (for which there is a separate form).

Returning to submit?

Yes/No

REASON FOR OFF-CAMPUS TRAVEL/RELOCATION:

Strong justification is required for off-campus travel or relocation during thesis study. Please detail the reasons for your travel below, including any potential benefits to your thesis studies, arrangements and methods of contact to ensure adequate supervision while off-campus, and details of any institutions at which you may be based while off-campus.

ADDITIONAL PAPER ADDED (for PhD and DMA only)

In exceptional circumstances, candidates may be permitted to take additional paper(s), provided these do not delay the completion of their thesis. Strong justification is essential, and should be provided below. Authorisation is not required for candidates to attend lectures without enrolling. Guidelines on additional papers are available from the Graduate Research School.
