Science and Industry Museum

<https://www.scienceandindustrymuseum.org.uk/>

The Science and Industry Museum in Manchester is home to numerous marvels of engineering and manufacturing, and the 'Objects and Stories' link from the home page has information about many of them. The high quality photos are interesting, and the stories are well written and informative. For example, did you know that Manchester's Liverpool Road railway station was the first passenger station in the world, opening in 1830? The station is part of the museum's physical location.
