Excellent training Opportunities at Canterbury Medical Library

Canterbury Medical Library is offering free training in various resources for the remainder of the year. Come along to learn about CINAHL, the library catalogue and e-journals, and the OVID databases like MEDLINE and EMBASE. You'll find details about when and where the sessions are, along with brief information regarding session content and how to book in, at:

www.otago.ac.nz/christchurch/library/training/index.html

We also offer individual training sessions if the times of the group training sessions don't suit you. Just contact us to setup a time.

Information for CDHB Staff

At present, there are problems with ScienceDirect journals on the CDHB network, and they're unfortunately not going to be resolved in the near future. The Articles of Interest publications include a number of ScienceDirect journals. You will find instructions on how to work around the issue, on the CDHB intranet, at:
