Our Future Resource Management System

Rebecca Scannell

Ministry for the Environment | Manatū Mō Te Taiao

The new resource management system is just around the corner. The Natural and Built Environment Act (NBA), the first of three new pieces of legislation that will form the foundation of the new system, will be introduced in October this year. As future practitioners under the new resource management system we would like to ensure you're well versed as the new system is implemented and ensure you have the information you need to submit to select committee.

Come along to hear first-hand about the key features of the new system and get a feel for what working under the new system will be like.
