

Academic Proposal Consultation Record

People/Department/Committee	Date of Consultation	Issues Raised	Actions or changes made
INTERNAL CONSULTATION
Planning and Funding Office	31/12/17	Support
Division of Commerce Head of Departments	8/12/16	Possible impact on BCom (Tourism) student numbers	Differentiation between the two majors is more clearly outlined in this Form 1
Division of Humanities Academic Committee	2/2/17	Full support – It was suggested that the components for L&C and Te Tumu needed to be better detailed	We have taken on board this suggestion and the FORM1 provides a much more extensive explanation of how the contributions from L&C and Te Tumu will work in the new major
Commerce Divisional Board	15/2/17	Rephrasing of the Languages and Cultures/Te Tumu paper requirements to refer to specific paper code or subject code options rather than to departments and schools.	Undertaken as suggested
Humanities Divisional Board	15/2/17	The proposal was circulated and discussed and it received full support.  It was suggested that “Global Tourism” may be a better/more attractive name of the major.	While we appreciated the suggestions, most of the consultation and preliminary conversation indicated that the actual presence of “languages and cultures” in the title of the major would help identify the major as distinctive from the current BCOM Tourism.
Board of Undergraduate Studies	1/3/17	The 300-level Language and Culture paper requirements will need to be clarified in the Form 1.  Is there going to be a capstone paper (s) for students?	Now addressed in the Form 1.  No, as a full year capstone may impact upon the potential for students to go on international exchange.
Department of History and Art History	28/2/2017	Support  On behalf of the Department of History and Art History I

		am writing to support this proposal. This is an exciting development for your Department! Professor Takashi Shogimen LL.B. PhD FRHistS
Department of Anthropology and Archaeology	28/02/2017	Support The department of Anthropology and Archaeology supports this proposal. Kind regards  PROFESSOR RICHARD WALTER • FRSNZ • FSA  Head of Department  Department of Anthropology and Archaeology
Department of English	28/2017	Support The Department of English and Linguistics is very supportive of this well-thought out proposal. It provides a good example of ways in which language skills create options for employment, as well as increasing inter-divisional education. Best of luck with it. Shef Rogers Tumuaki / Head of Department of English and Linguistics
College of Education	28/02/2017	Support Kia ora Paola,  Please accept this email as endorsement from the College of Education for your proposal for a Major in Tourism and Languages and Cultures. This seems like a natural combination that is both needed and should be an attractive major. Kind regards,  Lisa

Department of Media, Film, Communication	28/02/2017	Support Dear Paola The Department of Media Film and Communication welcomes this initiative. In particular the proposed new major would seem to offer students further motivation to study and apply languages. Your collaboration with Tourism also seems exemplary of the best kind of cross-subject co-operation. Well done for this excellent proposal. Catherine
Faculty of Law	1/3/2017	Dear Paola As we all said at the Divisional Board meeting this is a terrific idea. I like the title TLC as it reflects exactly what the major/minor is about. There is excellent support from the tourism industry. The key will be to get this widely advertised across the country and around the world. The internship paper the Division now offers is well worth adding to give the opportunity to be out in the field. Best wishes Mark -- Professor Mark Henaghan Dean of Law	Hi Mark: Thank you for your support and your suggestions to add our HUMS301/401 paper. I agree with you that this paper would be an excellent addition and will consult with our colleagues in Tourism to get their feedback on this idea. All the best Paola
