

NZ's Waistline – what will it take to fix it?

WELLINGTON, 7 JUNE, 2013

PROGRAMME

9.45am	Mihi whakatau: Koro Bill Herbert Welcome and opening remarks: Sir Eion Edgar, Professor Richard Blaikie and Professor Jim Mann	1pm	Professor Janet Hoek: What can obesity researchers learn from tobacco control?
10.15am	Professor Tony Blakely: What interventions might reduce population obesity rates? And even be cost effective and pro-equity?	Chair:	Professor Philippa Howden- Chapman: Building a case for an urban solution.
Chair:	Professor Robert Beaglehole: Taking obesity seriously	1.40pm	Dr Jeremy Krebs: The challenges of managing weight and diabetes in the family context
10.55am	Associate Professor Rachael Taylor: How early in life should obesity prevention begin?	Chair:	Dr Kirsten Coppel: How big is the diabetes challenge?
Chair:	Professor Barry Taylor: Is obesity a problem in preschool children?	2.20pm	Afternoon tea
11.35am	Dr Heather Gifford, Ms Nancy Tuaine, Ms Ethel Muir, Mr Rionn Harford: Whānau Ora – the chance to make a difference	2.40pm	Panel Discussion: Mr Kevin Hague (Green), Hon Paul Hutchison (National), Hon Annette King (Labour), Ms Barbara Stewart (NZ First), Professor Robert Beaglehole and Professor Jim Mann
Chair:	Dr Lisa Te Morenga	3.30pm	Professor Trisha Greenhalgh: Why policymakers ignore history – an example from the UK
12.15pm	Lunch	Chair:	Professor Jim Mann
		4.20pm	Concluding comments

Venue: Nordmeyer Lecture Theatre, Wellington School of Medicine

Date: Friday 7 June, 9.45am-4.30pm

RSVP: diabetes.research@otago.ac.nz

Please register to reserve your place