

Screenshots of a debtor student's eVision portal

These screenshots compare what students can usually access vs one who is on “restricted access” due to being classed as a debtor. Please note that although the student webmail link drops off eVision, the student does not lose access to their email.

This is what the homepage of a student who is not a debtor looks like:

The screenshot shows the eVision portal homepage. The top navigation bar includes links for Library, Blackboard, Student webmail, and Change password. The main content area is titled "Home" and features several sections:

- All alerts: A message stating "You do not have any current alerts." with a link to "Previous alerts".
- My programmes and papers: A message encouraging students to discuss their course with a Course Adviser, with a link to "Course Advice at Otago". A yellow button labeled "Course Enrolment 2021" is also present.
- My exams and results: Links to "My results" and "Other exams and results information".
- My scholarships and awards: A link to "See more".
- My graduation: A link to "See more".
- My research: A link to "See more".
- My details: A section showing the student's name and ID, with links to "Change my details", "Residential Colleges and Uni Flats", "View Academic Record", and "Request ancestry verification".
- My finances: A section showing the account balance (NZ$ 0.00) and links to "See my account and payment information", "Fees free eligibility", and "Pōtea Tautoko - Student Relief Fund application".
- My timetable: A section showing the student's timetable for today (11/Sep/2020) and tomorrow (12/Sep/2020). The timetable for today shows a lecture from 11:00 to 12:00 in room QUAD2.

This screenshot shows the homepage/dashboard that a debtor student with no scholarship would see:

Problem with examinations

The University has provisions for Alternative Arrangements and Special Consideration in Final Examinations.

To request assistance for:

1. Alternative Arrangements

You have a disability, impairment, medical condition or injury that affects your ability to sit an examination under conventional circumstances and require reasonable examination accommodations.

View applications

Apply here

2. Special Consideration

Consideration due to your examination performance being affected by serious illness or exceptional circumstances at the time of or in the 14 days immediately prior to the examination.

Health Sciences students (excluding Health Sciences First Year) must apply here: Special Consideration in final examinations in Health Sciences, not via your eVision portal.
