

JOB DESCRIPTION

Analyst Continuous Improvement

ROLE TITLE	Analyst Continuous Improvement
SECTION/DIVISION:	Transformation and Improvement, Operations Division
REPORTS TO:	Senior Manager Continuous Improvement
DIRECT REPORTS (FTE):	Nil
INDIRECT REPORTS (FTE):	Nil
PRIMARY PURPOSE OF THE ROLE:	Provide business process analysis to enable the university to change its operations through the design and implementation of efficient and effective business processes. Assess business requirements and make evidence-based recommendations to support process improvements aimed at achieving a range of intended benefits. The role reviews and analyses the University's current business processes and maps and documents new processes to ensure business objectives are met. Collaboration with a wide range of stakeholders is essential to elicit requirements and ensure strategic and operational alignment.
ACCOUNTABILITIES:	Utilise business knowledge and commercial acumen to assist with conducting analysis of current and future business processes to ensure services meet operational requirements and the needs of students and staff. Specify business processes and requirements to a level that enables effective delivery of services. Prepare continuous improvement scoping and planning documentation. Identify and define process(es) scope and the costs, benefits and system support required for successful implementation. Plan the analysis activities; liaise with project and operational managers regarding analysis plans and the implementation of new processes into business as usual operations. Work iteratively with a wide range of stakeholders, facilitate scoping and processing mapping sessions. Effectively and efficiently elicit "as is" and future state processes. Identify and clearly define process requirements and priorities in a manner that can be understood by technical and non-technical staff. Analyse business needs and processes; identify alternative solutions or fit for purpose options; assess feasibility, risks, dependencies and limitations of proposed solutions; challenge business process design and minimise waste; and recommend new approaches with a view to creating tangible benefits to the University. Work with stakeholders to identify how changing business requirements may be delivered, through re-engineered processes.

Identify, refine and communicate new processes to users, customers and stakeholders. Support assessment of suitability of process design against stakeholder requirements and redesign processes as required. Contribute to the identification of training that will be required and resolve potential issues as they arise ensuring that solutions implemented are sustainable.

Analyse and consolidate information, and contribute to business cases to inform decision making. Select the most appropriate means of representing process requirements in the context of a specific change initiative or process change.

Provide plain language advice on process issues to non-technical audiences

Investigate, analyse and make recommendations regarding proposed changes to processes and systems.

Undertake analysis and inform business decisions or recommendations focusing on optimising business processes.

Where required, provide advice, analysis support and coordination for other small to medium sized process change/projects.

Proactively communicate and collaborate with internal customers and external stakeholders, from a variety of backgrounds, levels of skill and views of information delivery, technology solutions and business change. Support transformational change given the range of stakeholders, and complex technical environment with legacy systems and enterprise wide systems concurrently undergoing significant change.

Perform Departmental Health & Safety Officer (DHSO), first aid and/or fire warden duties (if required).
