Sponsored by The Eamon Cleary Trust

MONDAY, 3 SEPTEMBER 2018

5.30PM - 8.00PM

PWC, 188 QUAY STREET, AUCKLAND 1010

Join us for an evening with Fintan O'Toole, one of Ireland's most renowned journalists, to hear his thoughts on Brexit and its impact on Ireland.

Fintan O'Toole

Assistant Editor, columnist and feature writer

The Irish Times

Fintan O'Toole is one of Ireland's leading public intellectuals.

He has served as a drama critic for The Irish Times, New York Daily News, Sunday Tribune (Dublin), and In Dublin Magazine.

His books on theatre span a wide range of topics, from his biography of Richard Brinsley Sheridan to whatever is now appearing on Irish stages.

He is currently Assistant Editor, columnist and feature writer for The Irish Times. He also contributes to The New York Review of Books, The New Yorker, Granta, The Guardian, The Observer, and other international publications.

In 2011, O'Toole was named one of "Britain's top 300 intellectuals" by The Observer. He has received the A.T. Cross Award for Supreme Contribution to Irish Journalism, the Millennium Social Inclusion Award, and Journalist of the Year in 2010 from TV3 Media Awards.

In 2017, O'Toole became the first Irish recipient of the prestigious European Press Prize as well as the Orwell Prize for Journalism for his commentary on the Brexit referendum and its aftermath.

He has published more than a dozen books—most recently Judging Shaw—and is the Leonard L. Milberg Visiting Lecturer in Irish Letters at Princeton.

In July 2018 The Irish Times announced that Fintan O'Toole had been appointed Seamus Heaney's official biographer.
