

He Whakatuwherataka mō kā Tauira

An Introduction for Students

Hocken Collections/Te Uare Taoka o Hākena,
University of Otago Library

Nau Mai Haere Mai ki Te Uare Taoka o Hākena:

Welcome to the Hocken Collections

He mihi nui tēnei ki a koutou

kā uri o kā hau e whā arā, kā mātāwaka o te motu, o te ao whānui hoki.

Nau mai, haere mai ki te taumata.

The Hocken Collections is one of Aotearoa New Zealand's foremost public research libraries, holding a wide variety of materials relating to the history and cultures of this country, the Pacific and Antarctica, and with a special emphasis on southern New Zealand.

Ka Tae Mai Koe: As you Arrive

As you arrive, please:

- place your bags (including computer bags and sleeves) in the lockers provided before entering the General Reference area or heading upstairs to the Exhibitions Gallery. Please bring in some photo ID and the materials you require for research (eg. paper, pencil, USB stick/pen drive, laptop computer)
- leave all food and drink, including water bottles, in the lockers. We have a researcher lounge off the foyer that everyone is welcome to use
- set your mobile phone to silent, or turn it off
- sign the Readers' Register at the front desk each day

Kei Hea Ka Taoka Katoa?: Where Are the Collections?

Most of the collections are kept in stacks behind the reference desk. It is not possible to search the shelves or take items away from the library. Instead, we ask you to use our online catalogues to find and order material, and library staff will bring the items out for you to use in our reading room. Please ask staff at the Reference Desk for assistance in finding relevant material and guidance on how to order it. Please note that if you are using the Hocken for the first time, we may need to register you on our system before you can do this.

You can then take notes with a pencil (we have plenty for you to borrow) or we may allow you to take your own digital photographs or scans of some items for personal and research use. To arrange this, please talk to desk staff.

Rapua ki kā taoka mō ā koutou whakatauaaka mahi: Locating Resources for your Assignments

Books, Theses, Journals & Magazines, Newspapers & Audio-visual items

These cover a wide range of subject areas in varying depth, including local, regional, and national history, social and cultural studies, biography, geography, politics and government, language, literature, and the arts. Search our holdings on Library Search|Ketu <https://www.otago.ac.nz/library/index.html> - ask staff for assistance on how to order material. Once a request has been successfully placed, staff will retrieve the item, and issue it to you for use in the reading room.

We have produced a series of Reference Guides on a range of subjects to help direct you to useful sources in your research field. These can be found in hard copy in the General Reference area, and online, at <https://www.otago.ac.nz/library/hocken/otago038951.html>.

Kā Tuhi Panui o kā Hautaka: Journal Articles

George St, PORT CHALMERS. 1860s.
S04-124c.

The Index New Zealand database will help you find articles in Aotearoa New Zealand journals and newspapers such as the New Zealand Journal of History, NZ Listener, Otago Daily Times, and many others. It offers comprehensive coverage from 1987 onwards but does index some earlier journals – search at indexes are also available for comprehensive coverage of pre-1987 journals. Once you have found the references to relevant articles, check Library Search|Ketu to see whether we hold the relevant journal title and issue.

<https://natlib.govt.nz/collections/a-z/index-new-zealand-innz> . Print

Kā Mahere Whenua: Maps

The Maps collection includes topographical maps of both general and specific locations; cadastral maps, showing boundaries of subdivisions of land ownerships; well as plans of subdivisions and fire insurance maps. See our Maps and Plans research guide at <https://www.otago.ac.nz/library/hocken/otago038951.html>. Search for holdings on Library Search|Ketu (you can refine your results to Maps) or ask staff for help.

Kā Tukuka Kōrero, kā Tuhika Tawhito: Archives and Manuscripts
Archives are the records created or accumulated by an institution or organisation in the course of its usual business, and kept due to their continuing value. Manuscripts are the papers (diaries, letters etc.) of an individual person, e.g. Charles Brasch. Search for both archives and manuscripts on the Hākena catalogue at <https://hakena.otago.ac.nz/> and ask staff for further assistance.

Fragment from John Wallis
Barnicoat's diary, April 20 1844.
Misc-MS-1451/3

Kā Taoka Whakaahua: Pictorial Collections

These are located on the first floor, and include photographs and photograph albums, paintings, illustrations, sketches, cartoons, prints, posters, and postcards. The photographic collections include many images of Otago, its geography, architecture & its inhabitants, both tangata whenua and tau iwi.

Search for pictorial items on Hākena at <https://hakena.otago.ac.nz/> (some items are also viewable online using this catalogue). Some photos are also viewable online via Hocken Snapshot - <https://hocken.recollect.co.nz/> Additionally, more photos and artworks can be seen at <https://otago.ourheritage.ac.nz/> Please ask staff if you wish to consult the pictorial collections.

Kā Pānuitanga Whakatairanga: Ephemera

The ephemera collection includes a wide range of printed material such as posters, programmes, leaflets, packaging, and advertising circulars that was produced for immediate and contemporary use and reflects the attitudes and opinions of its time as well as contemporary design trends and aesthetic taste. It provides glimpses of everyday life and an insight to the culture and history of New Zealand. Search for holdings on Hākena at <https://hakena.otago.ac.nz/> but as most of the collection is not yet listed, please ask staff for assistance.

If you have any questions, please ask one of the staff: we are happy to help.
