

Economic Assessment of the Desulphurisation of Biogas using Sewage

- A new process using microbes naturally present in sewage
- Sizing the process for a large-scale development
- Estimating initial capital costs and operating costs
- Comparing these costs to other desulphurisation processes

