

COURSE OUTLINE

POLS318 Chinese Foreign Policy

Introduction

This paper describes and evaluates the foreign policy of the People's Republic of China. It is broadly divided into three sections. In the first section, students will be introduced to the alternative theoretical perspectives that are used by academics to analyse China's international behaviour. The second section will focus on China's foreign policy during the Cold War (from 1946-91). Attention will be paid to China's relations with the Soviet Union, the United States, and states in Asia. For section three, which deals with the Post-Cold War era (1991-present), we examine the evolution of Sino-U.S. relations, China's relations with states in Southeast Asia and Northeast Asia, and its military modernisation. Particular attention will be accorded to China's relations with states on its periphery; specifically, Northeast Asia and Southeast Asia.

WEEK 22 Review Session. Focus is on discussing students' questions on material covered in POLS 318 (1 June):

OBJECTIVES AND INTENDED LEARNING OUTCOMES

On completion of POLS 318, students will have acquired the following:

- an understanding of the major theoretical approaches to the study of Chinese foreign policy.
- detailed empirical knowledge of the major developments in China's foreign policy since 1949.
- an ability to critically evaluate the relevant literature on Chinese foreign policy since 1949.

A note on email communication: While email communication can be useful, it has its limitations. Experience has shown that it is often a poor substitute for speaking directly with the instructor and the tutor. Students are therefore strongly encouraged to see us during office hours (for the lecturer) and tutorials (for the tutor).

GRADE SCHEME

A+	90-100
A	85-89
A-	80-84
B+	75-79
B	70-74
B-	65-69
C+	60-64
C	55-59
C-	50-54
D	40-49
E	<40

The University of Otago's criteria for marking the essay is as stated below:

A+ 90-100: Absolutely outstanding answer. Factually faultless; strong degree of originality; clearly directed, comprehensive coverage; very extensive evidence of engagement with assigned reading; very well-written.

A 85-89: Outstanding answer. Factually almost faultless; clearly directed; logical; extensive evidence of engagement with assigned reading; original; very well-written.

A- 80-84: Very good answer. Presentation is fresh, logical and perhaps enlightening; originality of thought or approach; clear evidence of engagement with reading; good coverage; very well-written and directed.

B+ 75-79: Comprehensive answer. Clear, logical; thorough; factually sound (sufficiency of facts and/or no serious errors); evidence of engagement with the readings; demonstration of originality; well-written and directed. Competently summarises, but does not move on to critically evaluate the readings.

B 70-74: Adequate answer. Competent but largely limited to lecture and some of the assigned material; perhaps some errors or key facts missing; no originality; expression/style/grammar moderate.

B- 65-69: Answer that demonstrates areas of important weakness, either in terms of argument construction and/or in the ability to understand aspects of the assigned material. Limited engagement with assigned readings.

C+ 60-64: Very weak answer. Lacks a clear argument. Problems in understanding the course literature. Some attempt to answer the question. Limited engagement with assigned readings.

C 55-59: Incomplete answer. Information fairly sparse; some inaccuracies; broadly relevant to the question but poor coverage of lecture material; expression/style/grammar poor. Little, if any engagement with assigned readings.

C- 60-54: Deficient answer. Poorly directed at question; many omissions or errors but some relevant facts correct; understanding poor; expression/style/grammar poor. Little, if any engagement with assigned readings.

D 40-49: Very deficient answer. Largely irrelevant to the question; a few facts correct, but many omissions and errors; expression/style/grammar very poor.

E <40 Totally inadequate answer. Little or no relevance to the question; approach may be wrong; expression/style/grammar weak.

ADVICE ON EMAILING THE LECTURER AND THE TUTOR

- If you are emailing for information on the paper, read the handbook first. Since the lecturer has honed this handbook over many years, the information will in all likelihood be here.
- If your query is addressed in the handbook, the instructor and the tutor will refer you back to the handbook.
- That said, there are many genuine and necessary queries for information.
- If yours is such a case, identify yourself. There is often more than one Jack or one Jill in the class. Knowing your first and last name helps to answer your query.
- Ensure the subject line for the email indicates what your email is about.
- I am sure you like to be treated respectfully. Since it takes two to have a respectful relationship, it is the lecturer's strong preference that he and the tutor be addressed in a more formal rather than less formal manner. Examples of the types of inappropriate informal salutation that the lecturer has encountered in the past include include: "Hey" or "Bro." Since the point of email communication is an exchange of information, It is generally not good practice to send an email
- without identifying yourself, particularly when your email address does not contain your name. Don't laugh, the mistake never fails to get repeated.
- Help yourself to be understood. Ensure your email is brief, to the point, with all the details required for the lecturer to understand your query.
- By definition, a person only has one chance to make a positive first impression. Back yourself. Convuluted and vague emails containing spelling errors are guaranteed not to create a positive impression. Do not use text language. Check for spelling mistakes.
- Like you, the lecturer is a busy person. Do not expect an immediate reply. Allow enough time for an answer.

E-RESERVE AND CLOSE RESERVE INFORMATION

1. There is no coursepack for this paper.
2. All the readings are available in electronic format on the University of Otago Blackboard web-site: <https://blackboard.otago.ac.nz/>
Readings drawn from books will be in the close reserves section of the library. There is a two hour loan period.
3. To familiarise yourself with the E-reserve system, see the University of Otago library guide web-sites: <http://unitube.otago.ac.nz/view?m=IQYR146POHY> & <http://www.otago.ac.nz/library/help/learn/index.html>

PODCAST

There are no podcast recordings of the lectures.

STUDENT INFORMATION

THIS IS IMPORTANT

You will find there is a lot of helpful information and resources on the Department's website. In particular, we require you to check out the section called 'Essential Student Information'. You'll find it here: <http://www.otago.ac.nz/politics/study/current-students>. This page provides a number of useful resources such as the Study and Style Guide and the Plagiarism Declaration Form you must attach to your assignments. It supplies detailed information on assessment and student support. In particular, it contains guidance on the topics of plagiarism and deadlines, both of which can incur penalties if not heeded. This also is where you will find instructions for making online discussion posts and submitting assignments electronically if required, as well as guidance on using Otago Connect and Blackboard. So, it is very important you make yourself familiar with this material. Our assumption is that you have read it.

GETTING INFORMATION AND ASKING QUESTIONS

Information about the course is communicated to you through the course outline, through emails sent to your student email address, and through lectures and tutorials. It is your responsibility to ensure that you read the course outline, attend the lectures and tutorials, and read your emails.

STUDENT EMAIL

The University's online learning tools use your student email address to communicate with you. If you do not wish to use this address, you should forward all incoming emails to your preferred email address. Instructions on how to do this can be found on the ITS FAQ webpage. If you choose to use your student email address for all correspondence related to the online learning tools which your course uses (the default) then it is essential that you check your student email address regularly.

BLACKBOARD

Blackboard is the learning management system used at the University of Otago. It allows lecturers to upload lecture notes, reading lists, assessment information and other course-related material to each paper's Blackboard site so that students may access them. It may also hold things such as additional literary resources, videoconference podcasts, audioconference podcasts, Otago Connect recordings and facilities for online discussion. It also contains functions that enables students and teachers to interact via class announcements, email, discussion boards and tools used for assessing students, such as on-line tests and assignment submission.

To access Blackboard go to <http://blackboard.otago.ac.nz>, login using your University Username and Password. For further help go to the ITS Frequently Asked Questions

If you experience any difficulties using Blackboard, contact the ITS Service Desk on 0800 479888 (8.30am to 9.00pm Monday to Friday, 10:00am to 5:00pm Weekends) or email its.servicedesk@otago.ac.nz

REFERENCING SYSTEM

The department does not have a specific referencing style, the emphasis is on the consistent application of the chosen style selected by the student. For recommended referencing styles please go to <http://www.otago.ac.nz/politics/study/current-students/index.html#assessment> and scroll down to Style and Formatting.

SUBMITTING WRITTEN WORK

All assignments shall be submitted electronically via the 'Assignment' feature on Blackboard by noon on the due dates notified. All hard copies need to be submitted to the appropriate level box on the 4th floor of the Arts Building. For full instructions about how to submit assignments electronically via Blackboard as well as other important information on plagiarism, grading, and deadlines, please see the 'Essential Student Information' web page.

RETURN OF MARKED WORK

Assignments will be handed back in tutorials or lectures in the first instance. After that they will be available for collection from Politics reception (room 4C12, 4th floor, Arts Building) between 9.00 – 10.00am or 2.00 – 3.00pm Tuesday to Friday.

PLEASE NOTE: Assignments/exams will only be available for collection during these hours.

PLAGIARISM

All Assignments submitted in the Department of Politics must be prefaced with a student Plagiarism Declaration Form. These forms can be downloaded from the Department website <http://www.otago.ac.nz/politics/index.html> under Quick links.

It is also on the Blackboard site for this course. Students should make sure that all submitted work is their own. Plagiarism is a form of dishonest practice. Many students seem to be unsure of what plagiarism is, or why it is penalised heavily. Here is a definition. According to the Senate of the University of Otago: "Plagiarism is defined as copying or paraphrasing another's work, whether intentionally or otherwise, and presenting it as one's own (approved University Council, December 2004). In practice, this means plagiarism includes any attempt in any piece of submitted work (e.g. an assignment or test) to present one's own work as the work of another (whether of another student or a published authority)."

The Penalty for Plagiarism

Any student found responsible for plagiarism in any piece of work submitted for assessment shall be subject to the University's dishonest practice regulations which may result in various penalties, including forfeiture of marks for the piece of work submitted, a zero grade for the paper, or in extreme cases exclusion from the University. Students are required to submit electronic versions of all assignments they submit. These will be subject to a plagiarism check.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Academic integrity means being honest in your studying and assessments. It is the basis for ethical decision-making and behaviour in an academic context. Academic integrity is informed by the values of honesty, trust, responsibility, fairness, respect and courage. Students are expected to be aware of, and act in accordance with, the University's Academic Integrity Policy.

Academic Misconduct, such as plagiarism or cheating, is a breach of Academic Integrity and is taken very seriously by the University. Types of misconduct include plagiarism, copying, unauthorised collaboration, taking unauthorised material into a test or exam, impersonation, and assisting someone else's misconduct. A more extensive list of the types of academic misconduct and associated processes and penalties is available in the University's Student Academic Misconduct Procedures.

It is your responsibility to be aware of and use acceptable academic practices when completing your assessments. To access the information in the Academic Integrity Policy and learn more, please visit the University's Academic Integrity website at www.otago.ac.nz/study/academicintegrity or ask at the Student Learning Centre or Library. If you have any questions, ask your lecturer.

STUDENT SUPPORT

The 'Essential Student Information' link on the Department of Politics web page provides helpful information on how to access the University Library's resources, as well as a guide to the support services available to students at the University of Otago, including the Student Learning Centre and Disability Support.

For all administrative enquiries, please contact:

Malle Whitcombe, Assistant Administrator for Politics.

Email: politics@otago.ac.nz Phone: 03 479 8663

Subject Librarian (Humanities)

Christopher Seay

Office: Central Library: meetings by appointment only.

Phone: 479 8976 Email: christopher.seay@otago.ac.nz

We recommend that you contact the Department as soon as possible if you have any problems participating in the course or accessing resources. Please remember to check your University email account regularly for updates and announcements.

POLITICS DEPARTMENTAL POLICIES

ASSIGNMENT SUBMISSION

All assessments must be submitted through the appropriate box (100- 200- 300- or 400-level) in the 4th floor lobby (north). Students must keep a copy of their essay.

A coversheet for attaching to the front of your essays is available on Blackboard, and under the forms section of the departmental website. Ensure that you put your name, student number, paper code, and tutor's name (if appropriate) on the front page of your assignments and essays.

Some papers may have a customised coversheet which you will be required to use instead of the generic department version. Please refer to your course outline prior to submitting your assignments.

EXTENSIONS

Essays must be handed in by the due date unless an extension has been granted by the lecturer in charge of the paper.

The Extension Request form can be downloaded from the Politics webpage, or may be available on Blackboard. Completed forms must be emailed to the Department at politics@otago.ac.nz in advance of the assignment due date. No retrospective application will be accepted except in the case of serious medical condition, for which a medical certificate is required.

Extensions will be granted only for the following cases:

1. Ill-health
2. Bereavement
3. Personal difficulties of a serious nature
4. Provincial or national representative activities
5. Job interviews outside Dunedin

Nothing else (such as pressure of other university work) will be accepted as a legitimate reason for extensions. Computer problems do not constitute an exceptional circumstance unless it is an officially notified failure of University equipment.

Your application for an extension must be accompanied by evidence:

1. Medical certificate for ill-health
2. Documentary evidence for bereavement
3. Written statement in support of your application from another university officer for personal difficulties of a serious nature
4. Documentary evidence for provincial or national representative activities

No other evidence will be accepted. The evidence must be submitted to the Department at politics@otago.ac.nz, at the same time as, or within three working days after, the application for an extension either in hardcopy or as an email attachment of scanned image.

Applications with evidence does not guarantee the grant of extensions. The maximum length of an extension is ONE WEEK, i.e. five working days (except the case of serious medical conditions). Work that is more than one week late without an extension may be commented on but will not be graded.

Late essays in all papers will be penalised by a grade deduction of 5% for each day of lateness. Thus, for example, an essay handed in three working days late which received a grade of 65% (B-) would be lowered to 50% (C-).

QUESTIONS

For specific inquiries about tutorials and tutorial assignments, please write to your tutor in the first place. For more general inquiries about the course as a whole, please write to the course co-ordinator. Please do not write about things that you can easily find out yourself from this coursebook, Blackboard, eVision, or the departmental noticeboard (such as tutorial locations.)

CLASS REPRESENTATIVES

You will be asked to nominate class representatives who will meet with the Head of Department to provide feedback on each course. This is an important role which is valued by the department and can be added to the service section of your CV. OUSA provide training and resources.

CONCERNS ABOUT THE COURSE

We hope you will feel comfortable coming to talk to us if you have a concern about the course. The Course Co-ordinator will be happy to discuss any concerns you may have. Alternatively, you can report your concerns to the Class Representative who will follow up with departmental staff. If, after making approaches via these channels, you do not feel that your concerns have been addressed, there are University channels that may aid resolution. For further advice or more information on these, contact the departmental administrator or head of department.

ADDITIONAL SUPPORT

Any student should feel free to approach their tutor or lecturer, if they are having any problems or concerns with a course.

1. Student Learning Centre

The Student Learning Centre at the University of Otago provides support for students in reading, writing, study skills, note taking and much more. They even provide individual essay consultations and can assist with your grammar and essay planning. Check their website for information and contacts: <http://hedc.otago.ac.nz/hedc/sld.html>

ESSAY

Essay Questions (Select 1 of the 2 questions)

1. Discuss three (or more) important lessons that can we learn about Chinese foreign Policy during the Cold War.

Note: Through your choice of examples, demonstrate that you are familiar with Chinese foreign policy over the entire Cold War era. For example, answers that focus on just a certain portion of the Cold War (such as 1946-72) will not have demonstrated a thorough familiarity with Chinese policy during this era.

2. Evaluate the role of ideology in China's Cold War era foreign policy.

Note: Through your choice of examples, demonstrate that you are familiar with Chinese foreign policy over the entire Cold War era. For example, answers that focus on just a certain portion of the Cold War (such as 1946-72) will not have demonstrated a thorough familiarity with Chinese policy during this era.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Research Essay: 30% due by 12 pm Monday 23 April

Answer one essay question. The expected essay length is between 2500 to 3000 words in length. Material beyond that limit may or may not be read.

2. Demonstrate that you have done the assigned readings. Be sure to cite the relevant assigned readings.

3. If you have any queries about the essay questions, please ask the instructor either during lecture (so that other students can benefit from your questions) or at office hours.

4. Before asking the instructor questions, you are strongly advised to read the 'Elements of a Strong Essay' and 'Questions About Questions' sections below. If your question is discussed there, you will be referred back to the handbook.

SOME THOUGHTS ON HOW (AND HOW NOT) TO CRAFT A STRONG ESSAY ANSWER

"A scholar's first duty is to make it easy for the reader to figure out what you are saying. If the reader is confused, that's probably your fault."

Stephen Walt¹

Elements of a Strong Essay

1. Thesis Statement: Consists of a well thought-out thesis statement in the first paragraph, that responds directly to the question posed.
2. The Facts: Demonstrates accurate knowledge of the facts relating to the question.
3. Analysis: Moves beyond a knowledge of the facts to become an exercise in analysis. In other words, the answer moves beyond summarizing to develop a distinct argument. Answers that are restricted to a basic summary (however well-accomplished) of the subject matter, are not, strictly speaking, analytical answers.
4. Cites the Assigned Readings: Cites the required readings. Given the copious readings in this handbook, there is absolutely no requirement for, or expectation, that students cite readings outside this handbook.
5. Simple Prose: A strong essay does not contain abstruse, long and complex sentences. Typically, strong essays utilise simple, straight-forward language to articulate well-thought out sentences, which are themselves guided by their relationship to the thesis statement.
6. Reflects An Attention to Basic Essay Writing Issues: Double-space your essay; Spell-check the essay; number the pages of your essay.

What to Avoid in Writing Your Essay

1. Avoid Summarizing with little analysis.
2. Avoid Non-assigned Readings: Avoid citing readings that are not assigned in this handbook.
3. Avoid Convoluting Essays: Relatedly, avoid unclear, complex, long and convoluted sentences. This almost always reflects unclear thinking. The best writers express themselves in use simple and clear writing.
4. Avoid sloppy writing practice. Take care not to submit unedited or partially edited essays that have not been spell-checked.

QUESTIONS ABOUT QUESTIONS

While questions are encouraged, there are certain questions that have been asked by some students in the past. To save all of us time, I list the more obvious ones below, as well as the answers.

1. Question: Can I have a copy of your lecture notes?

The instructor cannot provide you with the lecture notes. There is a pedagogical reason for this. One of the old-fashioned, but nevertheless critical skills that university level students are required to learn, is to pay attention in the lecture and take accurate notes. Providing lecture notes severely undermines a student's incentive to develop this difficult skill.

2. Question: In my essay and the final examination, will I get a higher mark if I support one theoretical perspective or interpretation of events as opposed to another?

Yes. A key skill that a university education is designed to inculcate in students is the ability to develop an independent point of view, backed up by evidence. Your mark will be as strong as your ability to do this.

Relatedly, I often receive questions (in email or during office hours) asking if a certain approach is "right" or "wrong." There are no right or wrong answers in this paper, only convincing and less convincing ones.

3. Question: Can I pass the paper, or score a certain mark, if I selectively study the assigned material for only a certain number (for example: 6, 7, 8) of the 13 weeks?

No one can answer that question with any certainty. All I can say is that there is a strong correlation in university (dare I say, even life?) between hard-work and marks achieved.

4. Question: Will my mark be stronger if I make relevant reference to the assigned and recommended readings.

Yes.

5. Question: Will my mark be less strong if I make limited or no reference to any of the assigned readings?

Yes.

6. Question: What is the ideal number of references to make in the essay to the relevant readings?

The more the better, but as always, exercise wisdom and a sense of appropriateness. Citing a limited readings repeatedly in order to inflate the number of references is both counter-productive and easy for an examination marker to see through.

7. Question: Should I use readings that are not assigned in this handbook? No. Given the copious readings in this handbook, there is absolutely no requirement for, or expectation, that students cite readings outside this handbook.
