

2020 PUBLIC HEALTH SUMMER SCHOOL

Offering 32 short courses to build your knowledge and skills

TIMETABLE

 Denotes new course

WEEK ONE
Monday 10 February	Tuesday 11 February	Wednesday 12 February	Thursday 13 February	Friday 14 February
Youth mental health from a population perspective 	Literature review and basic meta-analysis skills	Responding to a mystery epidemic in the Pacific 	GIS techniques in health research
Introduction to Pacific health: Approaches for action (Wellington)	Important issues for Pacific populations 	Introduction to qualitative methods		Introduction to Pacific health: Approaches for action (Auckland)
Introduction to R	Improving housing standards for co-benefits for energy efficiency, carbon mitigation and health 	Intermediate R: The tidyverse		Introduction to epidemiology
WEEK TWO
Monday 17 February	Tuesday 18 February	Wednesday 19 February	Thursday 20 February	Friday 21 February
Machine learning for health research	Introduction to NVivo	Countering implicit bias and racism in health care 	Hauora Māori: Towards tino rangatiratanga in public health	Introduction to health economics
Introduction to the New Zealand health system	Preventing Cancer Symposium 	The harmful commodities industries: Joining the dots between alcohol, gambling, junk food and tobacco 	How to write a paper
Getting started in public health research	Simulation of preventive interventions: Health and cost impacts 	Survey research: Getting helpful answers to important questions
WEEK THREE
Monday 24 February	Tuesday 25 February	Wednesday 26 February	Thursday 27 February	Friday 28 February
Disaster management and public health		VHIN introduction to health research in the IDI	IDI data analysis: Practical introduction
Māori suicide prevention research, policy and practice		Modifying tobacco products to realise the Smokefree 2025 goal? 	Public health law	Firearms and New Zealand: Where to from here?
Prioritisation of health interventions				Hauora Māori foundations